BURGLAR MAKES NIGHT'S RECORD

[By United Press]
OAKLAND, Oct. 30.—Walter Harris, who was arrested here this morning, is believed to be the burglar who terrorized Alameda for two hours last night, burglarizing three homes, holding up a woman with a gun in her own home and escaping after defying ten officers. The police say he is responsible for seven other recent crimes in this vicinity.

BRITISH STEAMER MARINA IS TORPEDOED WITHOUT WARNING

Of Crew of 104 Men 34 Make Land--The Rest May Have Been Picked Up by Patrol Boats--Two Americans Reported to Have Been Aboard Vessel

[By United Press]
LONDON, Oct. 30.—The British steamer Marina was sunk without warning Saturday by a submarine. She was shelled and then sunk after trying to escape. Thirty-four members of the crew of 104 were landed. Lloyds reports that a part of the crew is aboard a patrol boat. A Danish steamer, a Greek steamer, a Norwegian bark and a Russian bark were submerged Sunday.

Two Americans Aboard
[By United Press]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—American Consul Frost at Queenstown has cabled that two Americans and five Filipinos were aboard the Marina.

French Capture Trenches
[By United Press]
PARIS, Oct. 30.—The French have captured the trenches northwest of Sailly and reached the fortified church. The Germans attacked Maches and Maisonneuve farm and penetrated the latter. There is no infantry activity at Verdun.

New Commander
[By United Press]
BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The French general, Berthelot, has been appointed commander of the Rumanian army, with Russian General Bielayev as assistant, according to French newspapers.

Another Steamer Is Victim
[By United Press]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Consul Frost has also reported that the steamer Rowanmore was sunk Thursday. She was shelled while the crew was aboard. Later the submarine shelled the lifeboats when the ship was abandoned after trying to escape. The crew landed safely. Frost is seeking their affidavits. It is learned the Marina did not try to escape the submarine. The Marina was sunk 100 miles west of Cape Clear.

Democratic Demonstration One of Big Events of Reno's History

As big if not bigger than the demonstration that was held the day Candidate Hughes visited town was the Democratic demonstration that Reno witnessed Saturday night. But with this difference: Curiosity seekers flocked to see Hughes; voters participated in Saturday night's affair and it gave the G. O. P. a chill, for it indicated that Reno and Washoe county, which have heretofore been regarded as Republican possessions may fall in line for Wilson, Pittman and the rest of the Democratic ticket. As early as 6 o'clock Reno's downtown streets were crowded with people from the residential section and from all parts of the county. At 7 o'clock the Carson contingent arrived and with their arrival the formation of the parade began. This formed at the Overland hotel and when it reached its length it covered seven blocks, the band leading and immediately following were the women, who numbered at least 500. Fully 1,000 men were in line and at the end was a string of autos fifty or sixty long and loaded to the guards with enthusiastic Democrats. Many placed the number of participants in the parade at 2,500, but conservative-

PUT WORDS IN SPEAKER'S MOUTH HE NEVER UTTERED

In Special to Carson News Judge Frank H. Norcross Reported to Have Attacked the Pittman Land Grant Bill--Prompt Denial Is Entered by the Justice, Who Never Mentioned Measure

The Republican managers and publicity department have been guilty of some despicable, meanly acts the present campaign in Nevada, but none was more contemptuous, pettifoggery or disgraceful than that which issued from their publicity bureau in giving a report of the Platt meeting at Verdi Saturday night. It purported to be a part of the remarks of Judge Frank H. Norcross, who was the main speaker at the meeting, and, as reproduced in the Carson News, one of the two papers owned and controlled by Sam Platt, it was as follows:

"Judge Norcross entered fully into the question of the Pittman land grant and every point that he made against the measure evoked the heartiest applause. He warned his audience of the dangers of the scheme and declared that if Nevada is to grow and prosper, her choicest lands must be protected from the ever ready land hogs, who are bending efforts to prevent the homesteader from settling on the acreage he desires as a range for cattle, and that the poor man would be outclassed when it came to a matter of bidding for the land as provided in the measure. Nevada had, one experience, and other states have had experiences along the lines outlined by the bill, and have cause to regret it."

When the News appeared on the streets Sunday morning and the above was read it created the utmost consternation among Judge Norcross' friends and many of them immediately got busy with wire and telephone and asked if it could be true that the judge had recanted on the position he had formerly taken on the Pittman bill and had come out in a public meeting against it. To these inquiries made Judge Norcross had but one reply and that was that he had not mentioned the Pittman bill in his Verdi address. The report of his remarks as they appeared in the News was made out of whole cloth. The Carson management of the News cannot be held accountable for for the good of the nation were the same individuals who now control the destiny of the Republican party and are back of Hughes. Senator Pittman talked for an hour and a half and was followed by Ed Cain, who made a half hour address. The audience was held intact all the time and showed its appreciation of the themes that were presented by wildly applauding when a strong point was presented.

An overflow meeting was held outside the theater and this was addressed by Judge Sanders and local Democrats. The Woman's party was on hand outside the theater and as soon as a Democratic speaker finished his remarks Mabel Vernon or some other member of the tribe would immediately jump in and begin an harangue that required the services of the the contemptible imposition which was put upon them, for undoubtedly they published the report just as it came off the wires, and all blame falls on headquarters, from which point instructions were undoubtedly given to send out the report.

But it indicates to what extremes Platt and his managers have been driven. In their attacks on Senator Pittman and the land grant bill they have received the aid of none but their disgruntled cohorts, and their criticisms have been so untruthful, so misleading, that with the explanations that were coming from Senator Pittman and his friends the Platt attacks were proving a boomerang and their charges and statements required bolstering up at the sands of such prominent men as Judge Norcross to give them any kind of verity. But the trick failed, as will all others of such a short-sighted nature.

Judge Norcross at various times in private conversation has discussed the Pittman land grant bill and has always held that it had no place in politics. It was a good measure for Nevada and Nevada schools and only required proper safeguarding to make it one of the most beneficent acts of legislation ever accorded the state.

Judge Norcross' Denial

At noon today Judge Norcross made the following written statement to the Appeal regarding the report of his speech at Verdi:

"I did not discuss nor refer to the Pittman land grant bill in my speech at Verdi on last Saturday evening. My remarks were entirely upon national issues. Senator Morehouse among other matters, discussed the land grant bill. I have been advised that an error was inadvertently made in the report of the meeting made to the Carson News, whereby I was credited with having made a portion of the speech of Senator Morehouse. I have been informed that, in justice to both Senator Morehouse and myself, the error will be corrected in the News tomorrow morning."

band to head off. A number of acts of rowdism were committed and it was humiliating to many of those who were there to see women subjected to the indignities that were showered at them, but in a measure it was the women's own fault. It was not their meeting and they had no business to be there except as listeners. Their sole purpose seemed to be to disturb the proceedings in the theater and in this they were partially successful, for their rantings would flow in through the open windows of the theater building and drown all voices from the stage.

In every sense, however, the whole demonstration was a success and encouraged Democrats to the extent that they believe Washoe county will give a majority for their candidates on November 7th.

TEUTONS TELL OF NEW GAINS

[By United Press]
BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The Rumanians have repulsed the Teuton side column southwest of Saurduk pass, but the Teutons have extended their gains southeast of Redtower pass, taking several heights. The Germans have stormed the French positions between Bayches and Lamisonette. The enemy captured portions of an advanced trench at East Lesboules. The enemy captured portions of an advanced trench at East Lesboules. The Russian mass attacks between Pastowity and Saolov were heavily repulsed.

CARRANZISTIS CLAIM THAT THEY REOCCUPY TOWN OF SANTA YSABEL

Villa's Force Now Moving Out--The Bandit Holds Prominent People for Ransom in Order to Raise Funds With Which to Pay His Followers

EL PASO, Oct. 30.—The Carranzistas claim they reoccupy Santa Ysabel, and that the Villistas evacuating the place. It is reported that Villa did not attack Santa Rosalia, but merely passed through. The Carranzistas declare that deserting Villistas say the bandits demanded their pay, causing Villa to seize and hold people for ransom and paying this to his men.

Santa Rosalia Captured Saturday
EL PASO, Oct. 30.—Reports to government men here say the Villistas occupy Santa Rosalia, the main force, however, moving south toward Jimenez and Parral on the trains. Santa Rosalia was captured Saturday with little bloodshed, most of the garrison fleeing.

WORLD EVENTS

[By United Press]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Supreme court today refused to review the California decision holding that the state cannot sue to oust the Southern Pacific from Sacramento water front property.

Marshal Shoots Two
[By United Press]
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—City Marshal Mazer of San Gabriel today fatally shot two Mexicans and slightly wounded another when a party of officers intravened in the brawl of 100 Mexicans. The owner of the ranch fired on the approaching officers. Several Mexicans were arrested.

Women's Meeting Tomorrow Night

A big meeting and a big time will be given by the Democratic women of Carson tomorrow evening at the C. and C. theater. It will be under the auspices of the Wilson-Marshall club and the women will have entire charge of the affair. There will be women speakers, recitations by women, vocal solos by women, a woman will be chairman and none but women on the stage. The men will take a back seat on this occasion. The women, however, want them to come and by their presence show that they are as much interested in the reelection of President Wilson as they are.

There will be no band, but there will be plenty to entertain everybody. You will make a mistake if you go anywhere else that night. You will hear a line of talk on politics and the issues that have not as yet been quipped by the men speakers.

Famous Actress Tomorrow Evening

Tomorrow evening Oliver Morosco presents Constance Collier, the versatile English actress and beauty, in "The Code of Marcia Gray," a drama of the newer, bigger, better type. Directed by a master hand that holds the big theme of the story and in each succeeding scene turned yet another page in the unfolding of the story, "The Code of Marcia Gray" is a production that the Morosco Photoplay company released on the Paramount program with the foreknowledge of its assured popularity. Also Bray's Animated Comedy Cartoon.
